

Community Healthcare Network New York City, New York

Program Overview

Community Healthcare Network (CHN), established in the 1960s, offers dental care in four federally qualified health centers across New York City, New York in Brooklyn, Jamaica, and Manhattan. Services include screenings, cleanings, sealants, x-rays, fillings, extractions, crowns, bridges, dentures, and root canals. CHN targets low-income children and adults, as well as individuals without insurance. The staff members in the network speak more than 25 different languages and use over-the-phone real-time translation services if they do not speak an individual's language.
