

Engaging AARP to Expand Community Partners That Address Oral Health with Their Stakeholders

Multiple locations throughout Washington

Program Overview

Engaging AARP to Expand Community Partners That Address Oral Health with Their Stakeholders is a strategy used in Washington state to engage older adults in conversations about oral health. The two major components of the program are teleconferences covering oral health education and targeted mailers to certain geographic regions. This service is available to AARP members residing in Washington (ages 60 and older).
